BEHIND THE TUNE

Capturing the warmth and freedom of 2010 teenagehood, Headers & Volleys boasts the nostalgia of long summer evenings playing FIFA 14, Blackberry Curves and visiting friends for sleepovers. A timepiece for feelings of belonging and home, bankiyan's latest release invites sentimentality, and draws upon shared experiences for its promotion. Weaving wistful vocal samples and sound bites with a percussive drum and bass beat, Headers & Volleys carries forthright lyrics about falling emotionally homeless.

"I want to share people's weird, unique memories of playing the game. Where they played it, their flavour of Lucozade Sport, their mates awful haircut - your nostalgia is so important"

bankiyan's journey to his North London home surprised even his own audience. Born in Slough to Scottish-Iranian parents, bankiyan was training to be an actor when he began knitting together thoughtful, confessional wordplay, reminiscent of a young Loyle Carner. Emboldening personal feelings of heartache and displacement, bankiyan's lyrics compliment self-produced instrumentals which fuse hip-hop with organic electronic elements.

In January of last year, he moved to Brighton with nowhere to live in an effort to "break the cycle" of his family's personal turmoil. Headers & Volleys takes new agency of his story as his first release since, and debut as a signed artist. bankiyan's 6 prior tracks led to a string of sell-out shows at venues including the O2 Academy2 Islington, Brighton's iconic Green Door Store, and The Prince Albert, where he supported global rising star Mauvey.
